What is Insider Threats? Should we be worried about it?

Do you have any employees, contractors, business partners who might put your business at risk because of their actions?

For example, do you have someone who might steal your corporate and sensitive data? Do you have someone within that could be paid by outsiders to manipulate? Do you have an employee that accidentally sent a confidential email to the wrong person?

For most of you, the answer to the above questions to a least one of them will be unequivocal YES!

In this article (Insider Threat 101), I introduce you to what is "Insider Threat" and why you need to pay careful attention right now. Insider Threat is an intriguing and complex problem. Some assert that they are the most significant threat faced by organisations. Unfortunately, there is no "silver bullet" for stopping Insider Threats.

Of course any feedback on this article would be very much welcomed.
