McAfee suffered a data exfiltration situation back in June 2019. Why does a technology company like McAfee who promotes its own DLP solutions wasn't able to stop its employees from taking valuable information out of the company?

So what can we learn from it? Should we continue investing in DLP solutions? Should we look for alternative solutions like?

But, the real question is what is the real reason in using these technologies in the first place?

To find out more, read the article.
